First Nordic Workshop on Recruitment to Advanced Engineering Education

Location: Linköping University, Sweden

Date: 5-6 May, 2014

NORDTEK, a collaborative organisation for the technical universities in the Nordic countries, arranges a workshop in Linköping on recruitment to engineering education, from lunch to lunch, 5-6 May. In the workshop, the following themes will be presented and discussed:

- ◆ Why do potential students choose or not choose to study engineering?
- ◆ What can be gathered from international research on students' interest and choice of education?
- ◆ How can mathematics mentor programs facilitate recruitment of engineering students?
- ◆ How does Nasjonalt Senter for Realfagsrekruttering contribute to supporting recruitment to science and engineering education in Norway?

The target group for the workshop includes:

- ◆ People working with student recruitment at the Nordic technical universities.
- ◆ People working with school outreach programs at the Nordic technical universities.
- ◆ People interested in development and research in engineering education.

Lunch and dinner is provided as part of the workshop. As participants, you arrange travelling and lodging in Linköping yourselves.

Please register by sending an email to Pia Johansson: pia.johansson@liu.se, including the following details:

- ◆ Name
- ◆ Organisation
- ◆ Email address
- ◆ Food allergies or special diet requirements

As the organising committee, we wish you warmly welcome!
